MORGANZA SCHOOL IS COSTLY INTSTITUTION

Reform School Per Capita Expenditure is High

COMPARISONS SHOWN

Annual Report on Organizations Receiving State Aid Made Public

That the reform school at Morganza requires more money per capita a week to feed, clothe and care for its average of 448 inmates than any other state institution in Pennsylvania, with the single exception of the Home for the Training in Speech of Deaf Children Before They are of School Age, in Philadelphia, which is almost out of comparison because it has only 65 inmates, is one of the interesting statements in the report of the State Board of Charities on conditions and finances in hospitals institutions and homes, in Pennsylvania for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1912, which has just been isused.

The weekly cost per capita at Morganza was $5.20, while the state industrial reformatory at Huntingdon, pays but $1.96 of the state's money weekly for the upkeep of each inmate. The normal capacity of the former is 500, 45 more than occupied the institution at the close of the fiscal year. Two hundred and fourteen persons were discharged from Morganza during the year. The average number of inmates in the Huntingdon reformatory for the year was 698 and the number of discharges and deaths was 361.

The Western Pentientiary in Pittsburg and the Easter Penitentiary in Philadelphia were close running mates in the matter of expenses. The Western Penitentiary spent $1.54 a week for each of its 1,006 inmates, while the average weekly expenditure per capita for the eastern institution was $1.33. The latter averaged 1,366 prisoners during the year.

The training school at Morganza came into the limelight somewhat a few weeks ago, when William McDowell a Pittsburg attorney entered habeas corpus proceedings for the release of Barbara Boris a 16-year-old girl of Homestead, whose mother charged that she had been beaten and otherwise cruelly treated at the institution to which she had been committed. This proceeding was thrown out of court in Allegheny county but the charges attracted so much attention that a bill was introduced in the legislature asking for an investigation of the Morganza school, where it was charged a whipping post is maintained as a disciplinary agent. The bill however was defeated.

With a farm of about 600 acres in a fine state of cultivation and numerous work shops and industrial institutions it is believed that the institution should be practically self-sustaining and the great per capita cost of $5.20 a week for each inmate is a surprise. Recently an appropriation of between $400,000 and $500,000 was asked for the school including $4,000 for the purchase of an automobile. What the automobile is to used for is not stated.

Tribute to The Founder

W. C. T. U. to Hold Memorial Tonight in Honor of Frances Willard

Tonight at 8 o'clock at the First Christian church the annual Frances Willard memorial services will be held. The affair will be under the auspices and in charge of the Charleroi Woman's Christian Temperance Union, who has mapped out a most interesting program. State Agent to Give Demonstration of Protecting Trees

COMING HERE, FRIDAY

The first demonstration of spraying and caring for fruit trees in this immediate section will be made Friday of this week by P. T. Barnes, an aget of the Division of Zoology of the PePmsylvania Department of Agriculture at the orchard of Dr. J. K Smith in Fallowfield township. Dr. Smith received last week Mr. Barnes announcement of his forthcoming visit.

The duty of Mr. Barnes as demonstrator will he to show the best and most advanced methods of caring for fruit trees and fruit. Throughout the state the Department of Agriculture has men at work. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist is general director of the work. Yearly visits are made to various communities, but thus thus far, it seems Charleroi has been missed. Mr. Barnes will arrive in Charleroi at about 9 or 10 o'clock Friday morning.

SAD GREETING AHEAD FOR FOREIGN FAMILY

Woman and Three Children Will Learn of Death Upon Arrival Here of Husband and Father Who Had Preceeded Them

Happy with the expectation of being greeted soon by their husband and father, a woman and three children are somewhere today on the Atlantic ocean on their way to America. They will have the saddest of news to receive when they arrive for their loved one here is dead.

The husband and father, George Madrac came from central Europe a few months ago to Newell. He secured work at the plant of the General Chemical Co. Economical he was saving money that in a short time he might send for the little family. Finally he was able to buy passage; the first of this month they left their home.

Last week, on February 9 he was injured. Taken to the McKeesport hospital he lived until Sunday, when he died without being able to leave more than a word for his loved ones. They will hardly learn of the circumstances of his death until they arrive in Newell the last of this week. Today at 2:30 o'clock the body of Madrac was interred in the Phillipsburg cemetery at California.

ALL UP WITH BOARD IF BOY GETS MEASLES

Amwell Township Man Demands $1,000 Bond to Guarantee Boy Will Not Take Measles at School--Directors Hesitate

In trying to enforce compulsory school attendance, the school board of Amwell township have run up against a stiff proposition. Joseph Zediker refuses to send his 13-year-old stepson, William Zediker to school because he fears the lad will contract the measles which are prevalent. The truant officer got busy and the senior Zediker was haled before the school board.

Then it was that the man stated his reasons for not sending his step son to school. It appears that measles have been epidemic at the school and an aged man who lives near the Zediker homestead contracted the disease and died. Zediker fears that if he sends the boy to school the lad will contract measles, communicate the disease to him, and he is fearful that on account of his age he would not survive.

"You must send the boy to school, according to law." said the members of the board. "The school house has been fumigated, and the danger is small."

"All right." replied Zediker, "I'll do it if the board will post a bond for $1,000 that the boy won't take the measles."

This was a horse of another color, and the board is at a loss what to do. If it goes ahead, invokes the law, compels the boy to attend school and he contracts measles, the board is not sure but what it might be responsible for damages should any bad results follow.

Once before the board came in conflict with Zediker when the teacher of the school thought the younger Zediker needed a hair cut, as the lad was beginning to resemble a juvenile Rip Van Winkle. To this proposition the elder Zediker flatly refused to comply. He said that it was in the dark of the moon, and if the boy's hair was cut at that particular time it would not grow in straight, and by his talk he indicated that he didn't want any curly haired little Lord Fauntleroy about his premises.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH CORONER'S VERDICT

Inquest Held Into Case of A. F. McGowan--Five Witnesses Testify as to the Way He Fell From Car

That Abraham F. McGowan, lockmaster at Lock No. 4 came to his death last week purely through accident in falling from a Monessen-Charleroi car, was the opinion of the coroner's jury which sat in the inquest Saturday night held here. The following verdict was returned:

"We, the jury find that Abraham F. McGowan came to his death from fracture of the skull at the Monessen-Charleroi hospital on February 12. We further find that said fracture of the skull was received as the result of a fall from a street car while in motion. We find that death was entirely accidental and exonerate the conductor from any responsibility for the accident."

The jury consisted of John H. Frye, Perce D. PPollock, Frank Bly, Robert O. Vetter, David R. Duvall and Benjamin E. Wilson. Coroner James T. Heffran conducted the inquest.

Witnesses tesstified as to the manner in which McGowan left his seat in the car nearing Lock 4 stop, and of how he walked to the platform and plunged off. The witnesses heard were Motorman W. J. Thornhill, Conductor J. A. Gaul, Frank Beam, C. W. Kochenbour, and Thomas Warrensford.

"SATAN" TO BE SHOWN AT COYLE

In preparation for the great moving picture drama of "Satan," in five reels which opened at the Coyle Theatre today for a two-days' engagement, Manager R. S. Coyle has decorated the lobby of the Coyle Theatre most attractivel for the performance. It presents a novel attractive appearance in keeping with the subject. "Satan" is one of the sensational produdctions of the day and made a great furore recently in Pittsburg. It was presented at Monessen where double the price of the ordinary feature admission, onl ycharges the reg-Coyle however, only charges the regular feature price, although the film is the mast expensive one he has yet booked. It will be here tonight and tomororw afternoon and evening, opening at matinees at 1 o'clock.

CONCERN USE OF MEATS

County Official Believes Like Charity, Economy Should Begin at Home

O. Evans Mikesell, Sealer of Weights and Measures has had mailed to each member of the Monongahela Marketing Club, Bulletin 391 of the Department of Agriculture on the "Economical Use of Meat in the Home," by C. F. Langworthy, Ph. D. expert in charge of nutrition investigations and Caroline L. Hunt, A. B. expert in nutrition, of the department. Sealer Mikesell while engaged in righting the technical or mechanical phase of the high cost of living, also believes in the economical way. He believes that economy like charity starts in the home.

The relative nutritive value and ease and thoroughness of digestion of the different kinds and cuts of meats, the relative losses sustained when meat of different kinds is cooked in various ways are questions that have absorbed the mind of the housewife. This bulletin treats of the value of meat as a food, proportion of different cuts and their relation to meat prices, apparent and actual cost of meat in different cuts, texture and flavor of meat, general methods of preparing meat for the table, reducing the expense for meat in the diet, lessening the amount of meat used, buying in quantity for home use, utilizing the fat, bone and trimmings in meats and left-over cold meats, methods of extending the flavor of meat, utilizing the cheaper cuts of meat in palatable dishes and developing and improving the flavor of meat.

Sealer Mikesell has been enabled to secure this bulletin through the countesy of Congressman Charles Matthews.

RAILROAD TO BUILD NEW LINE

Contract Let for Extension of Montour Road 34 Miles

HAS ZIGZAG COURSE

Work is to start at once on the grading of the roadbed for a 34-mile extension of the Montour Railroad, which will open up to development 100,000 acres of coal lands belonging to the Pittsburg Coal Company and a large coal area under control of the United States Steel Corporation. The contract was awarded last Saturday to John Marsch, a well-known railroad contractor of Chicago at $1,500,000 for the grading. Further construction and equipment will add more than $500,000 to this amount. The road is to connect eventually at Riverview with the Pittsburg and Lake Erie.

The Montour Railroad now extends over the 13 miles from Coroapolis to North Star, at the former terminal tapping the Pittsburg & Lake Erie Railroad. It is now proposed to extend it from North Star to the Mifflin yards of the Union Railroad, the United States Steel Corporation road, about three miles above Duquesne. The railroad will pursue a zigzag bent and crooked line, following the many streams within the territory to be traversed. It will lie mostly in Allegheny County but lap over somewhat into Washington.

It crosses the Panhandle at Mc-

FEATURE BOOKED FOR THE PALACE

A big three reel special is booked for the Palace Theatre tonight that is said to be a thriller. This is "The Resurrection of Nick Winter," a sensational detective story in which a young lady is abducted by a notorious gang of criminals, who offer to exchange her for one of their number who has been arrested. The detective trails them, is caught in a trap but escapes by a miracle. Some sensational captures and escapes follow, which culminate by the detective blowing up a house and capturing the principles of the gang. Tomorrow night the Palace will show "The International Conspirarcy," a foreign film, where international spies and secret agents have some thrilling adventures in trying to discover one another's national secrets.

AN EXPENSIVE INSTITUTION.

The statement in the report of the State Board of Charities that it cost during the last fiscal year $5.20 a week per capita for the upkeep of an average of 488 inmates of the Industrial Training school at Morganza, gives color to the charge of extravagance made in an attempt to pass a bill last week in the state legislature, calling for an investigation of that institution. This statement is all the more extraordinary when it is shown in the same report of the board that the cost per capita a week at the Huntigton reformatory was $1.96; Western penitentiary, $1.54; Eastern penitentiary, $1.33.

This weekly cost of maintenance, provided it is actually expended on the inmates is probably twice as much as the average family expends per capita. At that rate a working man with six children, who earns from $2 to $3 a day, would have to expend a matter of $41.60 a week or a yearly total of $2,163.20. That being the case the family would fare better by having the children committed to Morganza, where they would have more money expended on their keep than the family could afford. As a matter of fact, it is not supposed that this mney was actually expended on the inmates, but was used for other purposes.

On the face of it, it looks as though this institution was grossly extravagant. It is understood that the institution possesses a farm of about 600 acres in a good state of cultivation, together with numerous industrial institutions inside. With these facilities the place ought to be virtually self-sustaining. The inmates are virtually able to work and are committed there for the express purpose of being taught industry and given instruction in some useful pursuit. This excessive cost of maintainance is not conductive to public economy to say the least.

BIG COAL DEVELOPMENTS SOON

The activity in coal land transfers and in prospective railroad building presages that big coal mining developments are in store for this section within the next few years, the actual beginning of which will be the completion of the Panama canal. The markets opened by this new waterway will cause unprecedented mining activity all along the Appalachian coal deposits, which will in all probability be worked out before the distant western deposits are drawn upon.

There are big opportunities in prospect in the buying and selling of coal lands that are now practically inaccessible. Even the western part of Washington county will likely be developed as soon as the Panama canal markets are available. There is a direct and easy railroad grade from the western part of the county to the Ohio river, where the coal can be more cheaply transported to the Gulf than by rail the entire distance. Thus far the big coal developments of the county have been in the eastern part, or at inland points available to eastern lines of transportation. With the completion of the Panama canal, the development of the western part of the county may be expected on a large scale.

ABOUT THE GARDEN

By T. Greiner in Farm and Fireside

Onions Much Asked About.

Planting an acre of onions is too big an undertaking for a person who does not know when it is time to plow and to sow the seed and how onions are cured.

First of all, read and study books and bulletins on onion-growing; then plant a fraction of an acre for a start, and thus find out what you can do with onions. For open-air sowing in the Northern States, the right time is the first chance in early spring that the land can be brought in perfect condition for the operation of seed sowing. We must have a nice clean seed-bed, neither too wet nor too dry.

Fall plowing and early spring working will often secure these conditions. In most cases spring plowing or replowing will be found necessary or preferable. We put the seed in with a common garden seed-drill, sowing about one inch in depth and four or five pounds of good seed to the acre.

A comparatively large amount of hand labor, by means of hand wheel-hoe, is required in order to keep an onion-patch free from weeds. And this work must be attended to in good season and with great thoroughness. If you do not propose to do that, better not plant many onions.

Lime Effects.

Much of my success in growing big onions, many specimens weighing a pound and a half apiece, I attribute to a free application of lime to the land in spring. Likewise, I believe that similar applications just before sowing the seed of the Portugal onion early in August have helped me to get a remarkably fine stand and growth.

I have used manures right along year after year. The land is rich. The fine and almost spontaneous growth of clover on any patch is left to itself for awhile would hardly show that there is any need of lime. Yet, owing perhaps to faulty drainage, the land often turns up rather soggy, with close texture. Lime seems to make it looser, and therefore more productive.

I think if I had used lime on my cucumber and melon patches, I would not have had to record such a complete failure. I shall use lime more freely next season.

Dry Onions from Seed.

Again I have some inquiries about onion-growing, this time from Ohio. Muck-land farmers everywhere, and people having other bottom-lands, usually prefer the Southport Yellow Globe for a yellow onion, and Round Red where that is wanted or thought to do better, for a red sort. The land, whatever its character, cannot be prepared too well. It should be very rich, and the surface made very fine and smooth. If muck, apply six or eight loads of good old stable manure. This is enough to inoculate the soil and start bacterial action.

For the balance of plant-foods, you can rely on commercial fertilizers, mostly of a mineral nature, such as acid phosphate or other forms of superphosphate, and muriate of potash, say six or eight hundred pounds of the former and half as much muriate, or, in the absence of these chemical manures, a few tons of wood ashes. All manurial substances, of course, must be well mixed in with the soil. Make it a particular point to sow the seed early. You will need about two and one-half pounds of fresh water-cleaned seed to sow your one-half acre. Sow it with a garden drill, making the rows about fourteen inches apart. Some have the rows only a foot apart, and some make them sixteen inches apart. Then use the hand-wheel hoe diligently, beginning as soon as the first seedlings make their appearance. Keep it going, and hand-weed before any of the weeds get large. Clean culture right through is a matter of vital importance. Thin where necessary. Do your work well and thoroughly, and you will have a crop in the fall worth harvesting.

Sweet Peas For Money.

"Could a person sell sweet-pea blossoms?" asks a subscriber. Yes; some person can. Some do at least and do well with it in a small way. There are plenty of people in our cities and larger towns who are just aching to buy and take home a nice bunch of sweet peas, of asters, of dahlias and of many other showy flowers, if such can be had fresh and for a reasonable price. We have a big lot of lilacs of many varieties, some single, some double, some white some purple and some of various other colors. They are usually in full bloom about Decoration Day. We could sell all we have and wagon-loads more every year, at good prices.

I know of no other flower that could be grown more easily for cut flowers than the sweet pea. But there are certain requirements that are indispensable to best success. In the first place the ground must be rich. We usually spade or dig a good lot of old compost into the row, along a woven-wire fence, which is a good place to have them. Possibly leaf compost and a good lot of commercial fertilizer would do.

The plants must also be given some support. This may be brush, poultry-wire netting or any woven-wire fence three or more feet high. They should be planted very early in spring. This is essential. The blossoms should be kept quite closely picked off. The more you pick the more will grow. If many are left to make ripe pods, the vines will soon give out. For general marketing purposes the ordinary good mixture (of colors) offered by responsible seedmen will do very well. It may be well, however to have a separate patch, row or part row of white and the different colors. By all means plant some sweet peas. Plant them early. Plant them fairly deep and use plenty of seed in the row.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Say, but I'm sorry I didn't bring my trunk along. In Charleroi, which I must say is one of the best towns I've been in, I could sell hundreds of neckties."

Thus it was Sol. Blow, who fondly characterizes himself and with considerable justice "The 25c cravat king" spoke. Sol. is now on his way from New York city to the Pacific coast, where he expects to attend the San Francisco exposition in 1915. He is traversing the distance by train, not by tramping, thank you, but is selling neckties on a wager to pay his way.

"When I started out from New York," said Sol, "all I had was the suit of clothes on my back, my hat, and a supply of neckties. For the last month I have been working in the Pittsburg region and am still retailing neckties to the folks there although I would never get a chance to quit. Though I have lately got a start on my trip I have sold enough to enable me to save $200 and pay my heavy traveling expense. That's going some, don't you think?"

Sol disposed of six or eight dozen of neckties Saturday afternoon from 12 to 2 o'clock on one square of Charleroi. He says he has good value for the money and says he had his neckties made for him and saves the middle man's profit. From the way they went, he talked convincingly. Sol is some salesman. If he comes back he will still find a ready demand.

"I bought a cake of tar soap of a well known brand one day last week," said a Charleroi citizen, "and was somewhat surprised to find the following label, giving the name of the packer and date of packing inside:

"'R. J. Jennings, Dec. 12, 1902.'

"This indicates that the soap was made and packed 10 years ago. How this particular box came to be sidetracked in a warhouse for ten years is somewhat of a mystery. However as the soap did not seem to have deteriorated, I suppose it made no material difference, but I just thought what if that soap had been a cold storage food product. This brought the matter forcibly home to me, and makes me an ardent supporter of a law to limit the time of cold storage for food products and to compel the storage people to label the date of storage accurately."

$ We Loan Money

If you are interested we will be glad to tell you all about it without charge. The average person does not not realize what a benefit an institution of this kind really is. Suppose you have four or five petty bills which you are trying to pay. It takes all you can make to pay them and keep your credit good, each one wants something each week and by paying them it keeps you continually short. Would it not be a great deal nicer if you came to us and obtained enough ready cash to pay them all up and not have them dragging on you for so long a time? Courteous and obliging employees.

You Know Us

We are in business right here where you live. You are an acquaintance, neighbor or a friend of ours. This money-back-if-not-satisfied offer should prove the sincerity of our claims.

When we say we believe we have the best laxative and back up our statement with our unqualified promise to return without question or formality the money paid us for it, if it does not prove entirely satisfactory to you, we believe we are entitled to your confidence.

Our business success and prestige depend upon your confidence in us. We know we must secure and hold your confidence in order to get and keep your patronage. Therefore, we would not dare make this offer if we were not positively certain that we can prove our claims for

Rexall Orderlies

Our experience with them and the many reports we have received from those who have used them prove that they are really the most pleasing and satisfactory bowel remedy we know of.

Rexall Orderlies taste like candy. They are soothing and easy in action. They don't cause griping, nausea, purging or excessive looseness, as do the usual physic or laxative. Rexall Orderlies seem to act as a tonic-strengthener upon the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They promptly relieve constipation. They act to overcome the cause of constipation. They tend to eliminate the cause of sick headache, biliousness, bad breath, nervousness and other ills attendant upon inactive bowels.

Make Us Prove This

We want you to come to our store and get a package of Rexall Orderlies. Use a few or use up the entire box. Then, if you are not entirely satisfied, come back and tell us and we will promptly return the money you paid us for them.

You promise nothing—you sign nothing—you obligate yourself to us in no way whatever. We accept your mere word.

Don't you now believe that Rexall Orderlies are worthy of a trial? Could any offer be more fair?

Try Them at Our Risk

We particularly recommend Rexall Orderlies for children, aged persons and for delicate people.

Rexall Orderlies come in vest pocket tin boxes. 12 tablets, 10c; 36 tablets, 25c; 80 tablets, 50c. Usual dose one tablet.

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all druggists. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at The Rexall Stores. You can buy Rexall Orderlies in this community only at our store:

SPEERS

Mrs. M. A. Duvall who has been spending a few weeks in the country has returned home.

Mrs. Sam Fox of Briceville, Tenn., arrived here Saturday and as Mr. Fox had already furnished their home the young couple took up house keeping at once.

Mrs. William Steel who has been on the sick list for many weeks has not shown any signs of improving.

Mrs. Mears of Monongahela spent Sunday with her daughter Mrs. Joe Davenport.

The Sunday school contest between Mrs. J. T. Heffran's class of young ladies and Miss Mary Taylor's class of young men closed Sunday, the girls winning by a clase margin.

The Ladies Aid met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Harry Abhaham's. A nice sized crowd was present, some visitors were also there. Lunch was served by Mrs. Abrahom and Mrs. Van L. Speers. At this meeting the ladies made arrangements to hold a social next Friday evening in the vacant store room belonging to Van L. Speers.

Everybody is glad to know that the Speers-Belle Vernon bridge is again open to foot passengers. The first floor is so laid that any one can now walk over. The iron workers are pushing it to completion as fast as possible.

To Buy Fire Equipment.

The Fire and Water committee of the Monongahela council opened bids Friday evening for the purchase of $1,000 worth of fire equipment. The bids include 1,000 feet of hose, a hand host cart, a dozen hats and coats and other minor equipment.

Dance.

A local committee from North Charleroi will give a dance in the Library hall there, Tuesday evening, Feb. 18. Admission, gentlemen 50 cents, ladies 10 cents. Come and enjoy an evening with the young folks. 173-t3

WHAT IS DIRT?

How the Question Was Answered by a Professor of Chemistry.

An old college professor used to say to his students: "What is dirt? Don't be afraid of a little dirt, young gentleman. What is dirt? Why, nothing at all offensive when chemically viewed. Rub a little alkali upon that dirty grease spot on your coat, and it under goes a chemical change and becomes soap Now rub it with a little water, and it disappears It is neither grease, soap, water nor dirt.

"That is not a very odorous pile of dirt you observe there Well, scatter a little gypsum over it, and it is no longer dirty Everything you call dirt is worthy of your notice as students of chemistry. Analyze it, analyze it! It will all separate into very clear elements

"Dirt makes corn, corn makes bread and meat, and that makes a very sweet young lady that I saw one of you kissing last night. So, after all, you were kissing dirt, particularly if she whitened her skin with chalk or fuller's earth

"There is no telling, young gentlemen, what is dirt, though I may say that rubbing such stuff upon the beautiful skin of a young lady is a dirty practice Nice, pearly face powder is made of bismuth—nothing but dirt." -- Exchange

MIXED WIVES.

The Dilemma That Mr. Church Faced and How He Mastered It.

In the early part of the last century there lived in an old New England town a Mr Church, who in the course of his early life was bereft of four wives, all of whom were buried in the same lot.

In his old age it became necessary to remove the remains to a new cemetery This he undertook himself, but in the process the bones became hopelessly mixed.

His "New England conscience" would not allow him under the painful circumstances to use the original head stones, so he procured new ones, one of which bore the following inscription.

"Here lies Hannah Church and probably a portion of Emily."

Another

"Sacred to the memory of Emily Church, who seems to be mixed with Matilda"

Then followed these lines:

Stranger, pause and drop a tear,
For Emily Church lies buried here,
Mixed in some perplexing manner
With Mary, Matilda and probably Hannah

A Bit of English Humor.

An English humorist many years ago hit upon a neat way of scoring against certain politicians of the times A comic journal, not being a newspaper within the meaning of the act, was prohibited from giving news, and so in place of a parliamentary report the humorist in question reported a few "first lines" from speeches by prominent members: "Sir Charles Wetherell said he was not sensible"— "Mr. Hunt was entirely ignorant"— "Lord Ashley said he should take the earliest opportunity of moving"— "Mr. Perceval presented a petition praying"— "Colonel Sibthorpe never could understand"— "Lord Lyndhurst said he must entreat of every one to give him credit"— "Sir Edward Sugden was not one of those who thought"— "Mr. Croker said he had the fullest assurance"—

Wonderful Fiddles.

One of the greatest fiddles that ever were known was to be seen at the French court at the time of Charles IX. This was a viol so large that several boys could be placed inside of it. These boys used to sit inside this queer instrument and sing the airs that the man who handled the bow was playing on the viol outside. The effect is said to have been very beautiful, though it would seem as if the presence of the lads in its interior would seriously interfere with the tone of the "great fiddle," as it was called. Many years after another huge instrument of this kind was used at concerts in Boston. It was so large that to play it the fiddler had to stand on a table to use his bow at the proper point on the strings. This instrument was called "the grandfather of fiddles."

Columbia River Thrice Named.

The Columbia river has had three names It was first called the Oregon Afterward it was called the St. Roque, but when it was discovered by Robert Gray in 1792 it was given the name of his vessel, the Columbia, in place of the two floating appellations Oregon and St. Roque According to Whitney the original name of the river was the Orejon, "big ear" or "one that has big ears," the allusion being to the custom of the Indians who were found in its region of stretching their ears by boring them and crowding them with ornaments

Both Hate Him.

"Funny thing," remarked Wilson musingly "Tom Wilkins and Edith Brown used to be great friends of mine I introduced them to each other They got married, and now neither of them will speak to me Wonder what the reason can be?"

PETITIONS SIGNED ASKING STATE TO LICENSE HUNTERS

Petitions addressed to the Senators and members of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania are being largely signed over the State by sportsmen and citizens, asking the passage of the Resident Hunters License bill. A large number of signatures have been secured in Charleroi. The charge for the license by the proposed bill is to be $1. By its provisions, the farmer, his children and his tenants are not required to take out licenses to hunt on the property they own or rent.

Thelicense fees are to be used solely for the purpose of wild bird and game protection and for the purchase and propogation of game and the payment of bounties, if the bill proposed is passed. A similar law is now in effect in 36 states of the United States and seven Canadian provinces.

Smith when arrested said it was a joke he had played on his wife. He said he had told her thathe was married twice and she had taken him at his word.

DISOBEYED MINE FOREMAN; DEAD NOW

Coroner James T. Heffran on Saturday conducted an inquest into the death of John Kotsch of Roscoe who was killed at the Eclipse mine last week. The verdict was to the effect that Kotsch himself was responsible for his death, inasmuch as hehad violated the instructions of the mine foreman and had walked beyond the danger line in the mine, where he had been instructed not to go.

CIRCUS SHOW AT THE STAR

Manager Tom B.Cowan of the Star Theatre has two extraodinary photoplays today which are unusual attractions. One of these is a thrilling circus story in two reels that cost $25,000 to produce. It is entitled, "In a Lion's Den," and shows most graphically the perils of those who perform under the great white top during the circus season. The other is "The Law of the West," a thrilling Kay Bee film, that tells how justice is meted out in the open where primitive conditions prevail.

MORGANZA SCHOOL IS COSTLY INTSTITUTION

Reform School Per Capita Expenditure is High

Annual Report on Organizations Receiving State Aid Made Public

That the reform school at Morganza requires more money per capita a week to feed, clothe and care for its average of 448 inmates than any other state institution in Pennsylvania, with the single exception of the Home for the Training in Speech of Deaf Children Before They are of School Age, in Philadelphia, which is almost out of comparison because it has only 65 inmates, is one of the interesting statements in the report of the State Board of Charities on conditions and finances in hospitals institutions and homes, in Pennsylvania for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1912, which has just been issued.

The weekly cost per capita at Morganza was $5.20, while the state industrial reformatory at Huntingdon, pays but $1.96 of the state's money weekly for the upkeep of each inmate. The normal capacity of the former is 500, 45 more than occupied the institution at the close of the fiscal year. Two hundred and fourteen persons were discharged from Morganza during the year. The average number of inmates in the Huntingdon reformatory for the year was 698 and the number of discharges and deaths was 361.

The Western Pentientiary in Pittsburg and the Easter Penitentiary in Philadelphia were close running mates in the matter of expenses The Western Penitentiary spent $1.54 a week for each of its 1,006 inmates, while the average weekly expenditure per capita for the eastern institution was $1.33. The latter averaged 1,366 prisoners during the year.

The training school at Morganza came into the limelight somewhat a few weeks ago, when William McDowell a Pittsburg attorney entered habeas corpus proceedings for the release of Barbara Boris a 16-year-old girl of Homestead, whose mother charged that she had been beaten and otherwise cruelly treated at the institution to which she had been committed. This proceeding was thrown out of court in Allegheny county but the charges attracted so much attention that a bill was introduced in the legislature asking for an investigation of the Morganza school, where it was charged a whipping post is maintained as a disciplinary agent. The bill however was defeated.

With a farm of about 600 acres in a fine state of cultivation and numerous work shops and industrial institutions it is believed that the institution should be practically self-sustaining and the great per capita cost of $5.20 a week for each inmate is a surprise. Recently an appropriation of between $400,000 and $500,000 was asked for the school including $4,000 for the purchase of an automobile. What the automobile is to used for is not stated.

State Agent to Give Demonstration of Protecting Trees

COMING HERE FRIDAY

The first demonstration of spraying and caring for fruit trees in this immediate section will be made Friday of this week by P T. Barnes, an agent of the Division of Zoology of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture at the orchard of Dr. J. K Smith in Fallowfield township. Dr. Smith received last week Mr. Barnes announcement of his forthcoming visit.

The duty of Mr. Barnes as demonstrator will be to show the best and most advanced methods of caring for fruit trees and fruit. Throughout the state the Department of Agriculture has men at work. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist is general director of the work. Yearly visits are made to various communities, but thus thus far, it seems Charleroi has been missed. Mr. Barnes will arrive in Charleroi at about 9 or 10 o'clock Friday morning.

SAD GREETING AHEAD FOR FOREIGN FAMILY

Woman and Three Children Will Learn of Death Upon Arrival Here of Husband and Father Who Had Preceeded Them

Happy with the expectation of being greeted soon by their husband and father, a woman and three children are somewhere today on the Atlantic ocean on their way to America. They will have this addition of news to receive when they arrive for their loved one here is dead.

The husband and father, George Madrac came from central Europe a few months ago to Newell. He secured work at the plant of the General Chemical Co. Economical he was saving money that in a short time he might send for the little family. Finally he was able to buy passage; the first of this month they left their home.

Last week, on February 9 he was injured. Taken to the McKeesport hospital he died without being able to leave more than a word for his loved ones. They will hardly learn of the circumstances of his death until they arrive in Newell the last of this week. Today at 2:30 o'clock the body of Madrac was interred in the Phillipsburg cemetery in California

In trying to enforce compulsory school attendance, the school board of Amwell township have run up against a stiff proposition Joseph Zediker refuses to send his 13-year-old stepson. William Zediker to school because he fears the lad will contract the measles which are prevalent. The truant officer got busy and the senior Zediker was haled before the school board.

Then it was that the man stated his reasons for not sending his step son to school. It appears that measles have been epidemic at the school and an aged man who lives near the Zediker homestead contracted the disease and died. Zediker fears that if he sends the boy to school the lad will contract measles, communicate the disease to him, and he is fearful that on account of his age he would not survive.

"You must send the boy to school, according to law," said the members of the board. "The school house has been fumigated, and the danger is small."

"All right" replied Zediker, "I'll do it if the board will post a bond for $1,000 that the boy won't take the measles"

This was a horse of another color, and the board is at a loss what to do If it goes ahead invokes the law compels the boy to attend school and he contracts measles, the board is not sure but what it might be responsible for damages should any bad results follow

Once before the board came in conflict with Zediker when the teacher of the school thought the younger Zediker needed a hair cut, as the lad was beginning to resemble a juvenile Rip Van Winkle. To this proposition the elder Zediker flatly refused to comply. He said that it was in the dark of the moon, and if the boy's hair was cut at that particular time it would not grow in straight, and by his talk he indicated that he didn't want any curly haired little Lord Fauntleroy about his premises

Inquest Held Into Case of A. F. McGowan--Five Witnesses Testify as to the Way He Fell From Car

That Abraham F. McGowan, lockmaster at Lock No. 4 came to his death last week purely through accident in falling from a Monessen-Charleroi car, was the opinion of the coroner's jury which sat in the inquest Saturday night held here. The following verdict was returned:

"We, the jury find that Abraham F. McGowan came to his death from fracture of the skull at the Monessen-Charleroi hospital on February 12. We further find that said fracture of the skull was received as the result of a fall from a street car while in motion. We find that death was entirely accidental and exonerate the conductor from any responsibility for the accident."

The jury consisted of John H. Frye, Perce D. PPollock, Frank Bly, Robert O. Vetter, David R. Duvall and Benjamin E. Wilson. Coroner James T. Heffran conducted the inquest.

Witnesses testified as to the manner in which McGowan left his seat in the car nearing Lock 4 stop, and of how he walked to the platform and plunged off. The witnesses heard were Motorman W. J. Thornhill, Conductor J. A Gaul, Frank Beam, C. W. Kochenbour, and Thomas Warrensford.

RAILROAD TO BUILD NEW LINE

HAS ZIGZAG COURSE

Work is to start at once on the grading of the roadbed for a 34-mile extension of the Montour Railroad, which will open up to development 100,000 acres of coal lands belonging to the Pittsburg Coal Company and a large coal area under control of the United States Steel Corporation. The contract was awarded last Saturday to John Marsch, a well-known railroad contractor of Chicago at $1,500,000 for the grading. Further construction and equipment will add more than $500,000 to this amount. The road is to connect eventually at Riverview with the Pittsburg and Lake Erie.

The Montour Railroad now extends over the 13 miles from Coraopolis to North Star, at the former terminal tapping the Pittsburg & Lake Erie Railroad. It is now proposed to extend it from North Star to the Mifflin yards of the Union Railroad, the United States Steel Corporation road, about three miles above Duquesne. The railroad will pursue a zigzag bent and crooked line, following the many streams within the territory to be traversed. It will lie mostly in Allegheny County but lap over somewhat into Washington.

It crosses the Panhandle at Mc-

FEATURE BOOKED FOR THE PALACE

A big three reel special is booked for the Palace Theatre tonight that is said to be a thriller. This is "The Resurrection of Nick Winter," a sensational detective story in which a young lady is abducted by a notorious gang of criminals, who offer to exchange her for one of their number who has been arrested. The detective trails them, is caught in a trap but escapes by a miracle. Some sensational captures and escapes follow, which culminate by the detective blowing up a house and capturing the principles of the gang. Tomorrow night the Palace will show "The International Conspiracy," a foreign film, where international spies and secret agents have some thrilling adventures in trying to discover one another's national secrets.

AN EXPENSIVE INSTITUTION.

The statement in the report of the State Board of Charities that it cost during the last fiscal year $5.20 a week per capita for the upkeep of an average of 488 inmates of the Industrial Training school at Morganza, gives colo to the charge of extravagance made in an attempt pass a bill last week in the state legislature, calling for an investigation of that institution This statement is all the more extraordinary when it is shown in the same report of the board that the cost per capita a week at the Huntigton reformatory was $1.96; Western penitentiary, $1.54; Eastern penitentiary, $1.38.

This weekly cost of maintenance, provided it is actually expended on the inmates is probably twice as much as the average family expends per capita At that rate a working man with six children, who earns from $2 to $3 a day would have to expend a matter of $41.60 a week or a yearly total of $2,163.20. That being the case the family would fare better by having the children committed to Morganza, where they would have more money expended on their keep than the family could afford. As a matter of fact, it is not supposed that this mney was actually expended on the inmates, but was used for other purposes.

On the face of it, it looks as though this institution was grossly extravagant. It is understood that the institution possesses a farm of about 600 acres in a good state of cultivation, together with numerous industrial institutions inside With these facilities the place ought to be virtually self-sustaining The inmates are all virtually able to work and are committed there for the express purpose of being taught industry and given instruction in some useful pursuit. This excessive cost of maintainance is not conductive to public economy to say the least.

BIG COAL DEVELOPMENTS SOON

The activity in coal land transfers and in prospective railroad building presages that big coal mining developments are in store for this section within the next few years, the actual beginning of which will be the completion of the Panama canal. The markets opened by this new waterway will cause unprecedented mining activity all along the Appalachian coal deposits, which will in all probability be worked out before the distant western deposits are drawn upon.

There are big opportunities in prospect in the buying and selling of coal lands that are now practically inaccessible. Even the western part of Washington county will likely be developed as soon as the Panama canal markets are available. There is a direct and easy railroad grade from the western part of the county to the Ohio river, where the coal can be more cheaply transported to the Gulf than by rail the entire distance. Thus far the big coal developments of the county have been in the eastern part, or at inland points available to eastern lines of transportation. With the completion of the Panama canal the development of the western part of the county may be expected on a large scale.

ABOUT THE GARDEN

By T. Greiner in Farm and Fireside

Onions Much Asked About.

Planting an acre of onions is too big an undertaking for a person who does not know when it is time to plow and to sow the seed and how onions are cured.

First of all, read and study books and bulletins on onion-growing; then plant a fraction of an acre for a start, and thus find out what you can do with onions. For open-air sowing in the Northern States, the right time is the first chance in early spring that the land can be brought in perfect condition for the operation of seed sowing. We must have a nice clean seed-bed, neither too wet nor too dry.

Fall plowing and early spring working will often secure these conditions. In most cases spring plowing or replowing will be found necessary or preferable. We put the seed in with a common garden seed-drill, sowing about one inch in depth and four or five pounds of good seed to the acre.

A comparatively large amount of hand labor, by means of hand wheel-hoe, is required in order to keep an onion-patch free from weeds. And this work must be attended to in good season and with great thoroughness. If you do not propose to do that, better not plant many onions

Lime Effects.

Much of my success in growing big onions, many specimens weighing a pound and a half apiece, I attribute to a free application of lime to the land in spring Likewise, I believe that similar applications just before sowing the seed of the Portugal onion early in August, have helped me to get a remarkably fine stand and growth

I have used manures right along year after year The land is rich The fine and almost spontaneous growth of clover on any patch is left to itself for awhile would hardly show that there is any need of lime Yet, using perhaps to faulty drainage the land often turns up rather soggy, with close texture Lime seems to make it looser, and therefore more productive

I think if I had used lime on my cucumber and melon patches, I would not have had to etc. such a complete failure I shall use lime more freely next season

Dry Onions from Seed.

Again I have a word to say about onion-growing this time from Ohio Muck-land farmers everywhere, are people having corner bottom-lands usually prefer the Southport Yellow Globe for a yellow onion and Round Red where that is wanted or thought to do better, for a red sort The land, whatever its character, cannot be prepared too well It should be very rich, and the surface made very fine and smooth If muck, apply six or eight loads of good old stable manure This is enough to inoculate the soil and start bacterial action

For the balance of plant-foods, you can rely on commercial fertilizers, mostly of a mineral nature, such as acid phosphate or other forms of superphosphate, and muriate of potash, say six or eight hundred pounds of the former and half as much muriate, or, in the absence of these chemical manures, a few tons of wood ashes. All manurial substances, of course, must be well mixed in with the soil. Make it a particular point to sow the seed early. You will need about two and one-half pounds of fresh water-cleaned seed to sow your one-half acre. Sow it with a garden drill, making the rows about fourteen inches apart. Some have the rows only a foot apart, and some make them sixteen inches apart. Then use the hand-wheel hoe diligently, before the weeds make their appearance. Keep it going, and hand-weed before any of the weeds get large. Clean culture right through is a matter of vital importance. Thin where necessary. Do your work well and thoroughly, and you will have a crop in the fall worth harvesting.

Sweet Peas For Money.

"Could a person sell sweet-pea blossoms?" asks a subscriber. Yes; some person can Some do at least and do well with it in a small way There are plenty of people in our cities and larger towns who are just aching to buy and take home a nice bunch of sweet peas, of asters, of dahlias and of many other showy flowers, if such can be had fresh and for a reasonable price We have a big lot of hlaes of many varieties, some single, some double, some white some purple and some of various other colors. They are usually in full bloom about Decoration Day We could sell all we have and wagon-loads more every year, a good price

I know of no other flower that could be grown more easily for cut flowers than the sweet pea But there are certain requirements that are indispensable to best success. In the first place the ground must be rich We usually spade or dig a good lot of old compost into the row, along a woven-wire fence, which is a good place to have them Possibly le compost and a good lot of commercia rertilizer would do.

The plants must also be given som support This may be brush pea-wire netting or any woven-wire fence three or more feet high They should be planted very early in spring This is essential The blossoms should be kept quite closely picked off The more you pick the more will grow. If many are left to make ripe pods the vines will soon give out For general marketing purposes the ordinary good mixture (of colors) offered by responsible seedmen will do very well It may be well, however to have a separate patch, row or part row of white and the different colors By all means plant some sweet peas. Plant them early Plant them fairly deep and use plenty of seed in the row.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"Say, but I'm sorry I didn't bring my trunk along In Charleroi, where I must say is one of the best towns I've been in, I could sell hundreds of neckties.'

Thus it was Sol Blow who fondly characterizes himself and with considerable justice "The 25c cravat king" spoke. Sol is now on his way from New York city to the Pacific coast, where he expects to attend the San Francisco exposition in 1915. He is traversing the distance not by tramping, thank you, but is selling neckties on a wager to pay his way

"When I started out from New York," said Sol "all I had was the suit of clothes on my back my hat, and a supply of neckties For the last month I have been working in the Pittsburg region and am still retailing neckties to the folks there although I would never get a chance to quit Though I have lately got a start on my trip I have sold enough to enable me to save $200 and pay my heavy traveling expense. That's going some, don't you think?"

Sol disposed of six or eight dozen of neckties Saturday afternoon from [illegible] leroi. He says he has good value for the money and says he had his neckties made for him and saves the middle man's profit. From the way they went, he talked convincingly. Sol is some salesman. If he comes back he will still find a ready demand.

"I bought a cake of tar soap of a well known brand one day last week," said a Charleroi citizen, "and was somewhat surprised to find the following label, giving the name of the packer and date of packing inside.

"'R. J. Jennings, Dec. 12, 1902'

"This indicates that the soap was made and packed 10 years ago. How this particular box came to be side tracked in a warhouse for ten years is somewhat of a mystery. However as the soap did not seem to have deteriorated, I suppose it made no material difference, but I just thought what if that soap had been a cold storage food product. This brought the matter forcibly home to me, and makes me an ardent supporter of a law to limit the time of cold storage for food products and to compel the storage people to label the date of storage accurately."

$ We Loan Money

If you are interested we will be glad to tell you all about it without charge. The average person does not not realize what a benefit an institution of this kind really is. Suppose you have four or five petty bills which you are trying to pay. It takes all you can make to pay them and keep your credit good, each one wants something each week and by paying them it keeps you continually short Would it not be a great deal nicer if you came to us and obtained enough ready cash to pay them all up and not have them dragging on you for so long a time? Rexall Orderlies

Our experience with them and the many reports we have received from those who have used them prove that they are really the most pleasing and satisfactory bowel remedy we know of.

Rexall Orderlies taste like candy. They are soothing and easy in action. They don't cause griping, nausea, purging or excessive looseness, as do the usual physic or laxative. Rexall Orderlies seem to act as a tonic-strengthener upon the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They promptly relieve constipation. They act to overcome the cause of constipation. They tend to eliminate the cause of sick headache, biliousness, bad breath, nervousness and other ills attendant upon inactive bowels.

Make Us Prove This

We want you to come to our store and get a package of Rexall Orderlies. Use a few or use up the entire box. Then, if you are not entirely satisfied, come back and tell us and we will promptly return the money you paid us for them.

BAPTIST CHURCH EVANGELISTIC SERVICES BEGIN

Evangelistic services were started Sunday at the First Baptist church. Rev. Herbert Agate, pastor of the Sewickley Baptist church and moderator of the Pittsburg Baptist Association, preached both morning and evening. In the morning he spoke of "The Gospel the Power of God," and in the evening, "Missing One's Calling." Tonight there are to be no services owing to the W. C. T. U. meeting. Tomorrow night Rev. Agate will preach again.

WHAT IS DIRT?

How the Question Was Answered by a Professor of Chemistry.

An old college professor used to say to his students: "What is dirt? Don't be afraid of a little dirt, young gentlemen. What is dirt? Why, nothing at all offensive when chemically viewed. Rub a little alkali upon that dirty grease spot on your coat, and it undergoes a chemical change and becomes soap. Now rub it with a little water, and it disappears. It is neither grease, soap, water nor dirt.

"That is not a very odorous pile of dirt you observe there. Well, scatter a little gypsum over it, and it is no longer dirty. Everything you call dirt is worthy of your notice as students of chemistry. Analyze it, analyze it: it will all separate into very clear elements.

"Dirt makes corn, corn makes bread and meat, and that makes a very sweet young lady that I saw one of you kissing last night. So, after all, you were kissing dirt, particularly if she whitened her skin with chalk or fuller's earth.

"There is no telling, young gentlemen, what is dirt, though I may say that rubbing such stuff upon the beautiful skin of a young lady is a dirty practice. Nice, pearly face powder is made of absolutely nothing but dirt—by change.

MIXED WIVES.

The Dilemma That Mr. Church Faced and How He Mastered It.

In the early part of the last century there lived in an old New England town a Mr. Church, who in the course of his early life was bereft of four wives, all of whom were buried in the same lot.

In his old age it became necessary to remove the remains to a new cemetery. This he undertook himself, but in the process the bones became hopelessly mixed.

His "New England conscience" would not allow him under the painful circumstances to use the original head stones, so he procured new ones, one of which bore the following inscription.

"Here lies Hannah Church and probably a portion of Emily."

Another:

"Sacred to the memory of Emily Church, who seems to be mixed with Matilda."

Then followed these lines:

Stranger, pause and drop a tear,
For Emily Church lies buried here.
Mixed in some perplexing manner
With Mary, Matilda and probably Hannah.

A Bit of English Humor.

An English humorist many years ago hit upon a neat way of scoring against certain politicians of the times. A comic journal, not being a newspaper within the meaning of the act, was prohibited from giving news, and so in place of a parliamentary report the humorist in question reported a few "first lines" from speeches by prominent members: "Sir Charles Wetherell said he was not sensible"— "Mr. Hunt was entirely ignorant"— "Lord Ashley said he should take the earliest opportunity of moving"— "Mr. Perceval presented a petition praying"— "Colonel Sibthorpe never could understand"— "Lord Lyndhurst said he must entreat of every one to give him credit"— "Sir Edward Sugden was not one of those who thought"— "Mr. Cooper said he had the fullest assurance"—

Wonderful Fiddles.

One of the greatest fiddles that ever were known was to be seen at the French court at the time of Charles IX. This was a viol so large that several boys could be placed inside of it. These boys used to sit inside this queer instrument and sing the airs that the man who handled the bow was playing on the viol outside. The effect is said to have been very beautiful, though it would seem as if the presence of the lads in its interior would seriously interfere with the tone of the "great fiddle," as it was called. Many years after another huge instrument of this kind was used at concerts in Boston. It was so large that to play it the fiddler had to stand on a table to use his bow at the proper point on the strings. This instrument was called "the grandfather of fiddles."

Columbia River Thrice Named.

The Columbia river has had three names. It was first called the Oregon. Afterward it was called the St. Roque, but when it was discovered by Robert Gray in 1792 it was given the name of his vessel, the Columbia, in place of the two floating appellations, Oregon and St. Roque. According to Whitney, the original name of the river was the Orejon, "big ear" or "one that has big ears," the allusion being to the custom of the Indians who were found in its region of stretching their ears by boring them and crowding them with ornaments.

Both Hate Him.

"Funny thing," remarked Wilson musingly. "Tom Wilkins and Edith Brown used to be great friends of mine. I introduced them to each other. They got married, and now neither of them will speak to me. Wonder what the reason can be?"

Sometimes They Are.

PETITIONS SIGNED ASKING STATE TO LICENSE HUNTERS

Petitions addressed to the Senators and members of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania are being largely signed over the State by sportsmen and citizens, asking the passage of the Resident Hunters License bill. A large number of signatures have been secured in Charleroi. The charge for the license by the proposed bill is to be $1. By its provisions, the farmer, his children and his tenants are not required to take out licenses to hunt on the property they own or rent.

The license fees are to be used solely for the purpose of wild bird and game protection and for the purchase and propogation of game and the payment of bounties, if the bill proposed is passed. A similar law is now in effect in 36 states of the United States and seven Canadian provinces.

THIS KIND OF JOKE MAY BE VERY SERIOUS

George Smith of Monongahela, was arersted here Saturday as he got off a trolley car at the request of Monongahela authohities, who stated he was wanted on the charge of bigamy preferred by his wife. Smith when arrested said it was a joke he had played on his wife. He said he had told her thathe was married twice and she had taken him at his word.

DISOBEYED MINE FOREMAN; DEAD NOW

Coroner James T. Heffran on Saturday conducted an inquest into the death of John Kotsch of Roscoe who was killed at the Eclipse mine last week. The verdict was to the effect that Kotsch himself was responsible for his death, inasmuch as he had violated the instructions of the mine foreman and had walked beyond the danger line in the mine, where he had been instructed not to go.

LINEN SHOWER FOR MISS M'CALLISTER

A linen shower was given Saturday afternoon by Miss Alice Sampson at her home in Carroll township in honor of Miss Arlene McCallister, whose marriage to Thomas G. Sloan will be an event of February 26. After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Sloan will live in Charlero. Attending the affair Saturday from Charleroi were Mrs. E. E. Piper and Miss Adele Heupel.

CIRCUS SHOW AT THE STAR

Manager Tom B. Cowan of the Star Theatre has two extraodinary photoplays today which are unusual attractions. One of these is a thrilling circus story in two reels that cost $25,000 to produce. It is entitled, "In a Lion's Den," and shows most graphically the perils of those who perform under the great white top during the circus season. The other is "The Law of the West," a thrilling Kay Bee film, that tells how justice is meted out in the open where primitive conditions prevail.
